The Houston Chronicle recently named Terry's company TEXON as the #1 private company in Houston based on revenue! Terry will speak about succeeding in business without taking God out of our schedule.

Terry Looper's Texon, founded in 1989, has been consistently profitable after the first year. He says his business's core principles are integrity, service and long term relationships. Texon has seen its revenue grow steadily, from $1.9 billion in 2005...to $6 billion in 2010...it has relied on long term relationships and expertise in servicing the mid stream energy markets. "That's why when the company lists its five core values, integrity, service, relationships, development of employees and profits, there's a valid reason profits are last on the list," Looper said.
